

My Grandma is an Opera Singer

My Grandma is an opera singer,
Before every show, she eats some ginger.
Her singing would drive St. Francis crazy,
(It might even scare a baby)

My gran sings really high notes
That makes her sound like a dying goat.
The audience all boo at her when she's done,
They even throw things at her and ask her for a refund.

My gran wears a hideous dress when she's onstage,
(Well, at least it covers up her age)
She puts loads of make-up on her wrinkles
That makes her face look like a shriveled pickle.

So let me give you a word of advice,
It might even save you from getting head lice.
But if my grandma ever invites you to watch her show,
Shake your head violently and say "NO!"
