

DAILY EVIL EXPRESS

EVIL QUEEN CAUGHT SELLING

POISONOUS APPLES ON EBAY FOR $10000

The Evil Queen, shortly after her release from jail, was caught again for selling poisoned apples on eBay. "I thought they were fresh apples!" exclaimed Mother Goose, before vomiting continuously on her pouch. Aside from old Mother Goose, Jack and Iney Winey Spider had also bought the Evil Queen's fatal poisonous apples, and unfortunately, Iney Winey Spider died yesterday afternoon after spluttering a spontaneous mouthful of blood.

The Evil Queen claimed that the apples were naturally poisonous, but she was found lying since her attic was packed with more than 100000 unbelievably enormous vials with their corks popped open.

Just before the Evil Queen was executed for selling poisonous apples, she explained that she had nothing to do in the past few days, so she dropped poison into fresh-picked apples. In return for her explanation, Goldilocks cut off her head in a dramatic flourish. "It was definitely an accident. My hand slipped." Goldilocks retorted grumpily.

Reported by Pr. 6 Trinity Chan

